

The metadata list window makes use of the metadata list handle to update the contents of the metadata config file

Each field to save consists of a field name, and a name for the variable where the...

